

Thank you!

The Ironman Competition was a huge success for the Roanoke Valley in large part due to volunteers from across the community that supported the event. Kiwanis co-hosted an aid station on the run part of the course along with members of the Roanoke Catholic Key club and a Scout Troop from northern Virginia that were visiting the area for the weekend and selected Ironman as their service activity. Volunteers arrived at 8 AM to set up and stayed until 3:30 serving drinks, snacks and encouragement on what turned out to be a hot afternoon for the runners.

Those participating included:

Faculty advisor Sara Plante and 8 members of the Roanoke Catholic Key Club who worked hard to make sure runners had all the ice and water they needed. Kiwanians included Lance Bowen, Joyce Waugh, Lois James, Bruce Swanson, Mike O'Brochta, Reif Kessler, Joyce Montgomery, John Montgomery, David Farnum, and Mike McEvoy. A special thanks to David Farnum for helping ahead of Sunday in preparing us for the day and was up early delivering the tables and supplies to the aid station so it would be ready in time.

Well done everyone!
